Information provided courtesy of the National Hemophilia Foundation, Centers for Disease

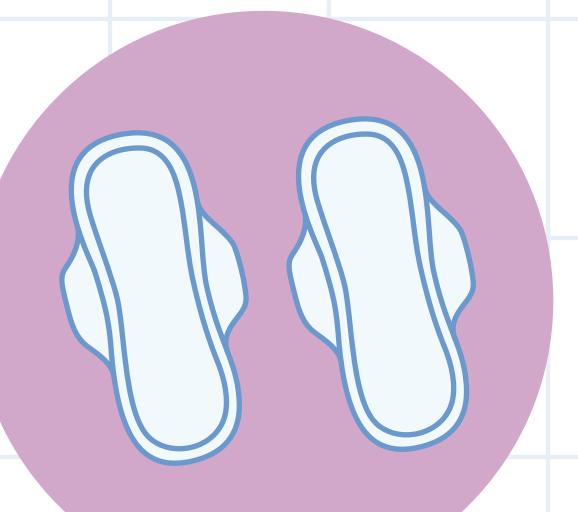

Do I Have a Bleeding Disc

A girl/woman may have a bleeding disor if she experiences one or more of the fo

Periods with large amounts of loss, that last more than 7 day

Soaking through an extra abso pad or tampon in one hour.

Needing to wear two or more or tampons at a time to control

Passing blood clots the size of quarter or larger.

Having a menstrual flow so he t keeps you from usual activit

Low iron levels.

sorder?		Bleec	bin	O	an			tti	ng		ISC) r
order		httect		er	B	nd	W	ΟΠ	ne		ho
Following		vome	h	fac	Ce	un		ue	re	pr	ОС
ofblood	h	balth	an		qu	ali	J	f			-hc
ays.		burine	gr	ne	ns	tru	Jat		n,	br	BQ	n
sorbency		abor,	an		de		er			56	St
	th	at as	n	an		as	10	6		VO
re pads	ble		9 (bis	Or	de	rs,	t	Ν	JO		n
rol bleeding.		Navar Ng dis
of a		h y ais
	W	h
leavy		blee		NO	Sy		oto	DM				r
vities.		Doder	at	e,	an		Sev	Ve	re	he		0
		Ther
		trea	atm	ent	Ce	nter	's tł	nat	offe	er cl	inic	S
		Servi of wc
											CS

lotting disorders women, however ique reproductive y of life challenges ation, pregnancy, ery. It is estimated 1% of women have s, though many are st common bleedvomen and girls is sease. Though rare, can also experience toms from mild, evere hemophilia.

ADD'L SYMPTOMS common to women with bleeding disorders:

UNTREATED, women with bleeding disorders are at risk for:

s bleeding disorders that offer clinics or devoted to the care To locate them, visit:

 Frequent nosebleeds – lasting longer than 10 minutes and having more than 5 per year.

Prolonged bleeding from minor cuts.

• Easy/unexplained bruising.

• Excessive bleeding after giving birth or after dental extractions/dental work, or other surgery.

 Unnecessary medical procedures including hysterectomies and ablations.

Postpartum hemorrhage.

• Recurring anemia.

 Having to limit or change activities because of heavy or prolonged menstrual bleeding.

